HISTORIC SAND KEY LIGHTHOUSE

Few small businesses can make claim to an impressive 25 year stretch in the highly competitive Key West market. The Alan S Maltz Gallery is one of those chosen few. When Maltz first opened his Duval Street gallery in 1999, he didn't know what to expect. To everyone's delight, it was an instant hit.

And while Maltz's work is exceptional, he humbly attributes much of his success to his wife, Leslie, his incredible staff, and to his expression of gratitude & appreciation.

Alan and Leslie recently completed a major installation for the prestigious Trivest Partners in Coral Gables. The project adorns much of the 20,000 square foot space, showcasing 150 large to mural-size aluminum works of art. The couple also collaborated with Southwest Florida's Phelan Family Brands to expand Maltz's presence in many upscale restaurants throughout the region.

On top of it all, Maltz just released 150 stunning new images, including over 30 aerial pieces and a masterful collection of images from the Sarasota area.

To celebrate the gallery's 25th Anniversary, Maltz is launching an impressive new website set to debut this spring.

The Man Behind Our Cover:

Artist Thomas Easley Opens at SeaSister Island Gallery

One of the things we love most about The Florida Keys & Key West is the fact that there are so many wonderful galleries stretching from Key Largo to Key West.

SeaSister Island Gallery, a cool new boutique art gallery, recently opened in the heart of Key West's diversely celebrated 300 Block of Duval Street.

Owner Rachel Garreau has been part of Key West's cultural fabric for over forty-five years and curates a terrific upscale contemporary visual art collection.

Right now, Rachel is showcasing a fantastic group of local and international artists from around the globe.

And that brings us to DESTINATION

FLORIDA's featured cover artist, Thomas Easley, whose painting, "Rooster In A Haystack," graces our Spring cover.

Rich hues, kinetic energy, and deep, luxurious pigments are the hallmarks of Easley's paintings. But as much as Easley is an artist of color, texture, and movement, his work is also multi-dimensional and an ongoing exploration of his creative self. Freedom from constraint is what makes Easley's art especially powerful.

Easley is exhibiting his new works at SeaSister Island Gallery on Friday, February 23, and Saturday, February 24, from 10 am - 7 pm. Another top talent to check out is contemporary artist David Miller, who opens on Saturday, April 20, and Sunday, April 21, from 10 am - 7 pm. Miller's unique body of work depicts various seascape and beach views from the vantage point of looking through an open window. His intriguing paintings make you feel as if you, too, are in the room sneaking a peek at what's outside.

Garreau is committed to making art accessible to everyone. Maybe that's why her space feels more like someone's living room than some high-brow art gallery. And why she features artwork by both well-known and not-so-well-known artists. Believe it or not, you can score original pieces here for under $100. Now, that's what we call "the Art of the Deal!"

SeaSister Island Gallery is open daily from 10 am - 7 pm. You can find it at 303 Duval St, Key West. Info 954-232-7248; seasisterislandgallery.com

Key West's Wackiest Parade

Papio Kinetic Sculptures Are a Sight to See

Artists, builders, assemblers, and aficionados of the wild and wacky are busily preparing for Key West's Annual Papio Kinetic Sculpture Parade, which magically takes off from Key West's Custom House Museum (281 Front St) at noon on Saturday, April 6.

A Pocket Park Block Party and Awards Ceremony follows from 12:30 - 3pm in the park next to the Southernmost Mansion at the end of Duval Street.

Inspired by and named for the late Keys' "junkyard" artist Stanley Papio, the event pays homage to the humorous metal artist who artfully welded together discarded car parts, appliances, pipes, and wire into extraordinary sculptures - long before it was hip to be rusty. Spearheaded by the Key West Art & Historical Society, the parade includes colorful sculptural floats, tricycles with exotically costumed riders, fantastically decorated bicycles, and other moving works of art - all powered by human effort alone. And while none of Papio's original sculptures were intended to move, the parade reflects his rebel approach to art and life. In addition to the parade, you can enjoy many of Stanley Papio's works at Key West's Fort East Martello Museum, 3501 S Roosevelt Blvd. The permanent exhibition includes more than 100 restored sculptural objects and other three-dimensional constructions from the whimsical to the dramatic. Open daily from 9:30 am - 5 pm. Info: 305-296-3913; kwahs.org.

Mark Your Calendars!

The Tennessee Williams Festival Is Coming

Mark your calendars because starting on Friday, March 1, Key West will roll out the red carpet for a month-long birthday celebration honoring Pulitzer Prize-winning playwright Tennessee Williams.

Hosted by the Key West Art & Historical Society, the annual Tennessee Williams Festival pays homage to one of the world's most famous literary giants with a series of art and cultural events staged at various venues around the island.

Events honoring Williams include a museum fundraiser, Plein Air painting, poetry and short story writing contests, museum tours, film showings, and a birthday party with cake and bubbly.

Born on March 26, 1911, Williams visited and lived in Key West from 1941 until 1983, when he inhaled an eyedropper bottle cap in a freak accident and choked to death. During his storied life, Williams' award-winning classics, like "A Streetcar Named Desire" and "Cat On A Hot Tin Roof," earned him two Pulitzer Prizes, Tony Awards, the Presidential Medal of Freedom, and many other literary awards. The Academy Award-winning film adaptation of his play, "The Rose Tattoo," was filmed here in 1954.

And here's a little tidbit you might not know: Tennessee Williams was also a prolific painter.

While his award-winning stories often explored the dynamics of the American South and his tumultuous upbringing, he turned to painting to express other private thoughts. Struggling with alcohol and drug abuse as well as depression, the tormented Williams used writing and then painting as a coping mechanism. His paintings and sketches span over 50 years, including portraits, landscapes, caricatures, compositions, a still-life, and several self-portraits.

In 2008, local resident Dennis Beaver began curating Tennessee Williams memorabilia and exhibiting a very small collection of artifacts. Over the years, his collection expanded and has evolved into the acclaimed Tennessee Williams Museum, showcasing photographs, artwork, first edition plays and books, rare newspaper and magazine articles, videos, a typewriter, and other fascinating artifacts.

You can visit Key West's Tennessee Williams Museum every Monday through Saturday from 10 am - 5 pm at 513 Truman Avenue.

For more details of the upcoming Festival events, see pages 16 & 18 or go to kwahs.org.

Lip Gloss and Pumps... Or Not—

Randy Roberts Shines

Randy Roberts has always been a bit of a ham.

Starting with his stage debut in Norfolk, VA, in the Temple Israel — “Randy Roberts LIVE!” — in the Crystal Room Cabaret at La-Te-Da in Key West.

“I call it a tribute to the most famous and infamous ladies of the stage, screen, and in my mind, I bring ‘Bette Midler,’ ‘Cher,’ and my own character, ‘Randy Roberts,’ to life.”

No lip-synching here: Randy sings all the songs live. And he does it very, very well. He did so well that he made it to NBC’s hit show, “America’s Got Talent,” and also appeared on ABC’s award-winning daytime drama, “One Life to Live.”

And while Randy hasn’t made it to Broadway yet, he has co-starred with Alan Cumming in the indie film “Any Day Now” and has appeared on nearly every stage in Key West – in and out of drag.

“I used to sing a song from the Broadway show ‘Pippin’ called ‘Corner of the Sky.’ I can honestly say that I’ve found mine in Key West!”

You can catch “Randy Roberts LIVE” in the Crystal Room Cabaret at La-Te-Da in Key West, 1125 Duval St. Tickets and info: 305-296-6706; lateda.com.

From Tacos to Tutu's – Aquaplex Shakes Up Key West

When Tennessee transplants and former Taco Bell franchisees Mike and Jon Barrett recently moved to Key West, they decided to buy the whole enchilada. The late architect Michael Ingram sold the famed Aquaplex complex to the new owners. They are determined to make Aquaplex the largest drag bar in Florida and elevate the status of Gay Key West to new heights.

After assuming ownership last August, many complex changes have already been made. The Sidebar and the Aqua Mainstage have been completely remodeled with new floors, bars, lighting, staging, and world-class sound.

The back bar has been refurbished, and a Food Truck called Aquabelle has been added with a full Cajun and local menu. It is open to the public from 7 am to 1 am (2 am on Fridays and Saturdays.)

If you want a good laugh, pop into the 22&Co Bar. Renowned for its tutu-wearing clientele, unicorns, neon flamingo décor, and unique craft cocktails, it is truly a sign to behold, and a party is always going on!

Plans are underway to have the Aquaplex work with other Key West bar owners to stage a rotating drag contest to attract even more visitors. During the Christmas season, the Sidebar presented "Holly Follies," a first-ever collaboration with the Crown and Anchor drag and entertainment staff from Provincetown, MA (often called Key West's Sister City) and the local Key West Aquanettes.

The first of the year brought the news that famed Key West entertainer Christopher Peterson was relocating to oversee the Sidebar room. He will produce, direct, and star in his show and rebrand the Sidebar stage as the "Bird Cage Cabaret" of Le Cage Aux Folles fame.

Christopher is undoubtedly one of North America's foremost female impressionists- visually and vocally, often compared to the legendary Jim Bailey, master of impersonations. Christopher's hit show EYECONS is one of Key West's hottest tickets. It is incredible how he can transform himself into more than a dozen famous women with the help of his "magic closet."

He also plans to showcase rotating guests from the Aquanettes and present local Key West talent.

At the Aqua Mainstage next door, the world-famous Aquanettes' "Reality Is A Drag" reigns supreme as the best drag show on the island. This adult-oriented, interactive show features the Aquanettes, Key West's own troupe of dragsters renowned for their outrageous numbers.

Now, with an expanded performance budget and elaborate costumes, dramatic make-up, and a state-of-the-art sound system, the group transforms into a bevy of beauties who all look the real deal.

Two of them, Beatrix Dixie and Epiphany, are known as the "Singing Aquanettes" and deliver marvelous live vocal renditions during their acts.

You will be wowed by their amazing impersonations of Cher, Celine Dion, Lady Gaga, and Barbra Streisand. Heading up the cast is Roger Hultman, whose rendition of a Swedish bombshell named Inga will have you rolling.

Long Live the Conch Republic!

The Conch Republic Celebrates 42 Years

Key West's hilarious Conch Republic Independence Celebration, which honors our community's "secession" from the US, happens April 19 - April 28.

The birth of our "nation" began in March 1982 when the Feds put up a roadblock in Florida City, so the Border Patrol could search every car leaving or entering the Keys for illegal drugs.

Reports of this unprecedented action and the traffic jams that ensued circumvented the world. Community leaders soon realized that the Keys' budding tourism was at stake. A failed injunction filed against the government's blockade prompted Key West's

Mayor to proclaim: "We are going to secede." And just like that, the Conch Republic was born.

On April 23, a new Conch Republic flag flew above Key West's City Hall and graced the 30' mast of the Schooner Western Union. Armed with an arsenal of water balloons, Conch fritters, and stale Cuban bread, the schooner set sail to attack the US Coast Guard Cutter DILIGENCE, who then decimated the crew with water cannons.

The Mayor (now the "Prime Minister" of the Conch Republic) immediately surrendered and demanded foreign aid from the US. The Feds ignored the demand but did remove the blockade.

Today, the Conch Republic exists as a sovereign state of mind. It signifies our vision of an America we are proud to be part of.

High Seas Romance In Key West?

You Betcha!

Should Leonardo Dicaprio and Kate Winslet ever cruise across the ocean together again, let it be aboard the breathtaking Schooner America 2.0.

With her sleek teak decks, elegant mahogany trim, and 3,600 feet of billowing white sheets, this classic-style tall ship looks as if she sailed straight out of a romance novel.

Winner of the Great Chesapeake Bay Schooner Race and Schooner Wharf Wrecker's Cup Race, the America 2.0 is regaled as Key West's most stunning sailing schooner.

And while she may look classic from the waterline up, this eco-friendly boat is equipped with state-of-the-art carbon fittings, a lightweight hull, and an electric propulsion system that enables it to slice through waves at an amazing speed even at full capacity with 75 passengers.

Make no mistake. Sailing aboard Schooner America 2.0 is unlike Key West's typical party boats. It's not about free beer (although there's that, too), or about snorkeling, or about listening to glib descriptions of Sunset Key.

It's about "burying the rail" (a term that describes how the boat tips when the sails are loaded with power). It's about that primal "Ah-ha" sensation. It's about sailing. Real sailing.

This 105' beauty is the pride and joy of Classic Harbor Line, who also commands five ships in NYC and another in Newport, Rhode Island.

The Schooner 2.0 sails in Key West from November through April, and her sister boat, the 80' Adirondack III, a 1890's-style pilot schooner, hoists her sails here year-round.

Find them both at 202 William Street, on the docks fronting Schooner Wharf Bar. Info: 305-293-7245; sailkeywest.com.

SHOP

Shopping in the Florida Keys and Key West is an adventure unto itself.

Florida's final destination boasts hundreds of interesting shops, stores, and over 90 eclectic galleries spread over 43 islands. Keep your eyes peeled as you travel along the Overseas Highway — the Florida Keys version of "Main Street, USA" — because you'll discover all kinds of unique shops in places you would least expect!

In Key West, eager shoppers have been combing the island for treasured goods since the mid-1800s. Back then, local wrecking captains auctioned off highly coveted goods salvaged from merchant ships grounded on nearby reefs. Today, it's much easier to get your hands on unusual handcrafted gifts, custom jewelry, unique clothing, collectibles, local art, and more.

"Today Is the Day!"

Mel Fisher's Treasures Pays Homage the World's Greatest Treasure Hunter

Former chicken farmer turned treasure hunter Mel Fisher hunted doggedly for years in search of the treasure-packed Spanish galleon, Nuestra Señora de Atocha, which sank in a hurricane off the Florida Keys in 1622 en route back to Spain from Cuba.

Finally, on July 22, 1985, just three years before Mel's death, and after 16 years of proclaiming "Today Is The Day," Fisher's crew hit pay dirt. The Atocha's "Mother Lode" came out of hiding about 35 miles offshore from the Florida Keys.

Although Fisher initially found the first artifact from the ship in 1971, discovering the location of the main wreck along with its sister ship, the Santa Margarita, netted his crew more than forty tons of silver and gold. The incredible haul included over 100,000 Spanish silver coins known as "Pieces of Eight," gold coins, silver and gold artifacts, Columbian emeralds, and over one thousand silver bars.

The cache totaled over $450 million, but that's only about half of what the family business has since recovered.

Although Mel Fisher suffered many personal losses to keep his dream alive during his 16-year search and endured over 100 court battles, his incredible treasure hunt ended in victory in the US Supreme Court.

Today, you can see many of the artifacts from the Atocha and Margarita at Key West's Mel Fisher Maritime Museum at 200 Greene Street.

You can also purchase your own genuine treasure coins and treasure jewelry at Mel Fisher's

Key Colony's Oceanfront Oasis

Havana Jack's Sweeps You Away

Oh, how we love our Keys' Chiki Tiki Bars. And lord knows we have a lot of them down here.

But occasionally, it's fun to put a different spin on "getting your Tiki on." and That's when we head over to Havana Jack's.

Tucked away on a secluded oceanfront beach on Key Colony, Havana Jack's breaks the mold by combining Tiki good times with inspired American/ Caribbean food, spectacular ocean views, and a lively island vibe that's a tad more upscale than the usual Tiki Bar experience.

Whether you pull up a stool at the "always happening" thatched roofed bar, park yourself on one of the plush patio couches, or slip inside the cozy indoor lounge, you'll be treated to the relaxed mood of the Caribbean.

In addition to the romantic oceanfront dining, Havana Jack's offers an inventive menu of craft cocktails, top-shelf spirits, fine table-side cut cigars, and live entertainment by some of the best local musicians and deejays.

You might say it's for fun-loving people who like their Tiki shaken, not stirred.

Havana Jack's is open Wednesday through Sunday from 11 am – 11 pm, with an exceptional Happy Hour from 4 - 6 pm. It is at 401 East Ocean Drive, Key Colony Beach, just off Marathon's Overseas Highway. Info: 305-281-0071; havanajacks oceanside.com.

A Last Little Piece of Old Key West

Schooner Wharf Bar & Grill

It was in November 1984 when Paul and Evalena Worthington quietly sailed into the Key West Bight on their classic 1926 Alden Schooner Defiance. Anchored by sea battered shrimp boats and buffered by wooden shanties selling nautical wares, the rough and ramshackle harbor front was a sight to behold.

Entrepreneurs that they were, the seafaring couple immediately got to work on establishing the largest marine fuel dealership south of Miami. They also set their sights on an even bigger challenge: transforming the Key West Bight into a thriving Historic Seaport District. Their sheer resolve and hard work paid off. Schooner Wharf is now home to the largest working fleet of Schooners on the East coast.

But that's only the back story.

In 1986 - just a short two years after they arrived in Key West - they also opened the now-infamous Schooner Wharf Bar. Originally located aboard the Brigantine Diamante, it became a floating "living room" for the colorful waterfront community.

Eventually, the Worthington's moved their boat bar ashore where a diving board served as the bar top, a filing cabinet housed the top-shelf liquor, and local marine salvage became "eclectic" decor.

Today, this last little piece of old Key West keeps getting better with time. The funky open-air bar - located on the site of the old Singleton Shrimp factory - is a beacon for both locals and visitors.

But don't be fooled by the looks of this rustic dockside "dive."

The food here may not be fancy, but it's sure damn good.

Fresh stone crab claws, peel-and-eat shrimp, fresh-shucked oysters, and, of course, conch chowder and fritters headline the no-frills menu.

You can also get Schooner Wings with a choice of sauces, big chargrilled burgers, grilled or blackened fish sandwiches, and lots of other handhelds, as well as several hearty Galley Plates.

Good food, exceptional live local entertainment, and a colorful cast of customers keep this last little piece of Key West one of the island's coolest hangs.

You can find SWB at 202 William Street, on the historic Key West Harbor Front's docks, in Old Town Key West. Info: 305-292-9520; schoonerwharf.com.

Jonesing for Terrific Pasta?

Mangia Mangia is a Key West Favorite

These days, it seems like going out for a really, really good affordable dinner in Key West has become an oxymoron. In fact, for many people, the price for a night on the town can be pretty staggering.

Not so at Mangia Mangia Pasta Cafe. Renowned for the impeccable fresh homemade pasta, Old Town's cozy, unassuming corner storefront is one of Key West's best values and has been making headlines with its intoxicating preparations since 1989.

There are always several fresh daily pasta on the menu (including gluten-free). Pair your favorite with one of Mangia Mangia's made-from-scratch, herb-spiked sauces (meat, marinara, pesto, seafood, or Alfredo), and you can't go wrong.

Or you can kick things up a notch with one of Mangia Mangia's Seafood Specialties. We especially like the Spaghettini with green-lipped New Zealand Mussels in a garlicky marina sauce; the heavenly Seafood Scampi with Maine lobster, shrimp, and lump blue crab or the fabulous Rigatoni with Jumbo Shrimp.

On top of all this are lots of House Specialties like Chicken or Mahi Piccata, Cheese Ravioli, Chicken Parmesan, and a whole lot more. The list goes on and on.

Winner of Wine Spectator's Award of Excellence, Mangia Mangia also has an impressive wine list (over 350 bottles) with a terrific selection under $20.

This little gem of a restaurant has seating in its retro air-conditioned dining room or outside in the beautiful open-air, brick-floored garden. FYI: They don't take reservations, and they are one of the island's most popular restaurants, so best to get there early!

Find it at 900 Southard Street, just a few blocks from Key West's Historic Seaport. Open nightly 5:30 - 10pm. Info: 305-294-2469; mangia-mangia.com.

Key West's Favorite Place to Get Happy

Tavern N' Town Restaurant, Bar & Tapas

There are Happy Hours and then there are really "Happening" Happy Hours.

For anyone who enjoys fine wine, spirited cocktails and great food, the Happy Hour at Key West's acclaimed Tavern N' Town is all that. Locals flock here nightly from 5 - 7 pm for the generous 2 for 1 cocktails, and the revolving lineup of top notch entertainment which regularly features island chanteuse, Carmen Rodriguez.

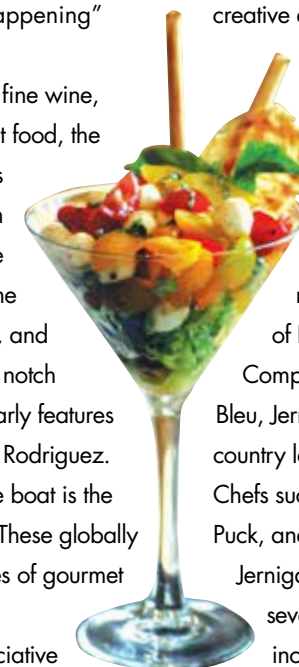

But what really rocks the boat is the "7 Tapas for $7" special. These globally inspired small tasting plates of gourmet appetizers are all artfully prepared and elicit appreciative nods from top food aficionados. The creative delectables are always changing and you can easily make a meal out of several small plates.

BTW: Dinner here is just as wonderful.

Stewarded by Executive Chef, James Jernigan, the restaurant is a regular recipient of Key West's Master Chef Competition. A graduate of Le Cordon Bleu, Jernigan previously traveled the country learning from world-renowned Chefs such as Daniel Boulud, Wolfgang Puck, and Joachim Splichal.

Jernigan's curated menu showcases several Tavern N' Town originals including prime rib, and conch chowder, as well as his own personal creations which may include local catch scampi, roast chicken breast, and prosciutto pizza. You can find Tavern N' Town at the Key West Marriott Beachside Hotel, 3811 North Roosevelt Blvd, Key West. Info: 305-296-8100; tavernntown.com.

NEST

OK, so here you are, ready to snatch up your own little piece of Paradise. But here's the big question: "Which Key is right for you?"

Our 125 mile-long subtropical island chain consists of more than 1700 islands, many of which offer unique opportunities for investing in real estate.

Known as "The Dive Capital Of The World," Key Largo is the first and northernmost Key of the Florida Keys and although it's only about an hour's drive from South Florida's two major airports, this funky spot is a world away and a perfect Key to hang your flip flops.

Just south of Key Largo is Islamorada, aka "The Sportfishing Capital of The World" where backcountry sport fishing and saltwater fly fishing were pioneered. Quiet and upscale, it's also one of the Keys' top dining destinations.

Often referred to as "The Keys Boating & Family Destination," Marathon, boasts homey resorts, luxury accommodations, marinas and the conveniences of a modern community, airport, golf course and plenty of shops while retaining the charm of its roots as a 19th-century fishing village.

Big Pine & The Lower Keys is the Keys' "Eco-Destination" and home to two national wildlife refuges including the National Key Deer Rescue - a safe haven for the miniature Key deer. Things are very laid-back here and it's a perfect place to live the "Old Keys" lifestyle.

Located closer to Cuba than to Miami, Key West is Florida's irreverent southernmost subtropical paradise where Gingerbread mansions share palm-studded streets with tin-roofed "Conch" houses. It's unique confluence of history, climate, natural beauty, cultural diversity, architecture and unabashed romantic appeal makes it a colorful place to set down roots.
